SUMMARY

A 30-acre Kremlin is located in the center of Astrakhan adjacent to the government control center. It is surrounded by a wide, high wall, with a large and 4 small towers on the wall (Figure 1).

The installation contains a multistory administration building, 3 multistory barracks/administration buildings (Figures 2 and 3), 5 storage buildings, 5 support buildings, and 2 possible quarters. No vehicle/equipment buildings, explosive storage, or POL facilities were noted. Two explosives storage areas are located inside the city limits, one 13 kilometers (km) north and one 10 km west. Several civilian POL storage areas are also located within the city.

This installation was reported as a barracks area in the referenced DIAAP Urban Intelligence Brief. Further information shows that a large portion of the Kremlin is now used as a museum, but is still capable of housing military personnel.
